From: GovTech Today
To: Joe Bianco
Subject: Meeting Users Where They Are, Why Emulating a Self-Driving Car Might Be the Best Way to Plan for Them
Date: Tuesday, March 13, 2018 7:45:46 AM

Subscribe to Government Technology | View Newsletter in Browser

Top Stories from govtech.com

TOP STORIES FOR MARCH 13

Meeting Users Where They Are
How mobile responsiveness and site design can bridge gaps created by digital inequities. READ MORE

SXSW 2018: Why Emulating a Self-Driving Car Might Be the Best Way to Plan for Them
Self-driving cars are becoming a bigger part of our urban environments. To craft policies that make sense, we might have to start seeing things the way they do. READ MORE

Cyber Range: Who, What, When, Where, How and Why?
The answer may be at a cyber range near you. Here's why the trend is exploding. READ MORE

Growth in Electric Car Ownership Presents Challenges to the Grid
With a significant number of electric cars expected on the road by 2020, power supply researchers say now is the time for strategies that can balance power demands without a costly upgrade to the power grid. READ MORE

SXSW 2018: The Year of the Mayor as a Futurist?
How playing a game helped train over a dozen U.S. mayors on how to think like a futurist. READ MORE

MORE HEADLINES

Recent Data Breaches Spark Debate Over 'Reasonable' Notification Rules

Washington City Plots Course to 5G

Changes Promised to Georgia Rural Internet Bills

Ohio Capital City Plans Electric Bus Test, with an Eye Toward Converting its Fleet in the Future

New York Broadband Funding will Improve Internet Access in Niagara County

Florida Courts Could Decide How Police Use Facial Recognition Tech

Opinion: A Bill in Congress Would Keep Victims of Data Breaches in the Dark

QUESTION OF THE DAY

How long does it take this robot to solve a Rubik's Cube?

ANSWER

INDUSTRY RESOURCES

The 'Gig Economy' for Government: It's Not What You Think

Extending IT Services to Business Process Automation

Next-Generation HCI: Fine-Tuned for New Ways of Working

MORE PAPERS

How Texas Cities Plan to Deal with Disruptive Bike-Shares

EDITOR'S CHOICE

As Google's Deadline for Web Encryption Looms, Many State and Local Websites Don't Meet the Standard

Incubating Innovation: Bloomberg Mayors Challenge Profiles, Part 2

Is Government Blogging Dead?

Subscribe / Facebook / Twitter / YouTube

This email was sent to jbianco@bakersfieldpd.us.
Unsubscribe | Opt out of all e.Republic email | Privacy Statement
© 2018 e.Republic. All rights reserved. 100 Blue Ravine Rd, Folsom, CA 95630, USA. Phone: 916-932-1300